

I, Terry Newman, Will to Diana, Irene, Matti, and Sara, all the luck and friends in the world; Debbie, blonde hair; Mike, a great senior year; Diana, Troy's old handshake; Mary and Floyd, more squirt guns; Irma, Barbara, Carol, and Myrlene, more cartons to stuff; Betty, ability to write better; and Lib, room 67.

I, Michael O'Brien, Will to Margaret C., my impeccable skill with and mastering of the clarinet. I will to Jerry G. my four year old track shoes; although, he may have difficulty filling them. (In more ways than one.)

I, Kathie O'Donnell, Will to Joanne Uyeno a new speech contest. I will Kathie O'Connell my typing grade. I will Mrs. Sandy's space in the library. I will Laura Toy my shoes. I will Chris Price my income tax return. I will Cathy Valla my nurses outfit. I will Joyce Balmer my bucket seats.

I, Betty Ogawa, Will to Janice Schuemperli, ability to make decisions; Cathie Blassman, food; Lorraine Paske, long hair; Terry Newman, freckle clearer; Sandy Luzano, a safer diet plan; John McInvale, more copy; Mike Mitchell, get copy in on deadline; Joanne Uyeno, my tambourine; Martin Taller, interesting postscripts; and Colleen Crawford, her clear skin again.

I, Sandy Pachol, Will to I. E., good luck with D. E.; to T. K., R. R., and the rest of the gang, luck after we're gone; to Y. G., best friends always; A. M., hope he changes; Walrus=P. C., a new car; Mr. M., good luck and thank you; E. H., I hope our friendship is endless; D. W., I tried; and K. V., Hi.

I, Daniel Palacios, Will to Ron Bebee and Pete Chinn, my broken Astron Space Plane; to Bob Walsh, my muscles; to Bernd Lunak, my reducing pills; to the A Capella Choir, my vocal chords; to Jay Thrift, one pair of red socks; to Gil Picazo, my general "rowdiness."

I, Rosemary Papa, Will to Terry Aez, slick with love; to Lorraine S., my tiny mouth; to Carol P., five cents more at lunch; to Mr. Clarkson, my ability to remember; to Yolie B., a boy; to Kathy R., my summer job; to "the group", happiness and fond memories and to Claud a bomber.

I, Lorraine Paske, Will to Colleen Crawford, my sweettooth; Jance Schuemperli, my Twiggy haircut; Betty Ogawa, ten pounds of rice; Gail Cimaroli, a one way trip ticket to Rome; and to Mike Stankovic, my perfect attendance.

I, Carol Patrick, Will to Barbara, an automatic bottle warmer; Rosie, longer dresses; Irma, a bottle of cold tablets; Miss McGarry, two left feet; Linda, quintuplets; and Lorraine, the ability to keep quiet.